

Submission Requirements

Artæria Publishing produces limited editions of art books and Artæria (Artaeria Editions) magazine dedicated to contemporary fine art, sculpture, photography, and the practices of artists, patrons, galleries, and museums. We work with artists and authors whose practice demonstrates a sustained, coherent body of work. We are particularly interested in projects that engage with materiality, process, and the relationship between image and the printed page.

What We Consider Artæria accepts proposals for original art books, magazine features, and limited reproduction editions. We do not accept unsolicited complete manuscripts or finished layouts. General portfolio reviews are not offered. Submissions must not be under consideration elsewhere at the time of proposal.

How to Submit Project proposals should include: a brief description of the work and its context (300 words maximum), the number of works to be considered, an indication of available text, and a draft PDF of representative images (image-based projects) or a writing sample of no more than five pages (text-based projects). Send your proposal through the Contact page at artaeria.com.

Technical Requirements

Photography Resolution: 300 DPI minimum at final print size; 600 DPI for limited reproductions. Pixel dimensions: 3000 × 4000 px minimum. Format: TIFF or RAW preferred; JPEG at maximum quality accepted. Color profile: sRGB or Adobe RGB. Each work as a separate file, titled with work name and year. No watermarks.

Texts Format: DOCX, one language per file. All texts must be finalized and proofread by the author before submission. Structure: clear paragraph breaks, heading hierarchy, consistent footnote format.

Image Captions and Credits Each caption: title, year, medium, dimensions, photographer credit, collection credit if applicable.

Layout Files Packaged InDesign (.indd) or final PDF/X-1a with bleeds of 3–5 mm.

Rights and Releases All submitted materials must be original work with full rights held by the submitting party. Written confirmation of rights is required before production begins. Model and property releases must be provided where applicable.

Review Initial review takes up to 60 days. Due to the volume of proposals received, Artæria is unable to respond to every submission. If your project is of interest, we will be in touch.
